Troutman Town Council members selected Danyel Cline Miller as Citizen of the Year and Troutman Baptist Church as Organization of the Year during the council meeting on Thursday, May 11, 2020. Mayor Teross Young, after the vote affirming the recognitions, said the council hopes to formally recognize the honorees at a regular meeting, when COVID-19 meeting restrictions are lifted.

Town of Troutman's Citizen of the Year

Danyel Cline Miller, according to nominator Whitney Fesperman, "has a heart for service. She is always willing to step up and help out in any way possible. She does so many unseen things for people throughout the community."

Miller volunteers several days a week at Troutman Elementary School, volunteering at the Good News Club, and Troutman Middle School as needed. At Troutman Baptist Church, Miller assists in organizing community events as well as volunteering with children and youth programs.

Miller is also a frequent volunteer at community fundraisers for charitable organizations or people suffering an illness. She works to recruit bakers and cooks or gathers donations for these events. She is also an active supporter of the officers of the Troutman Police Department.

"Danyel is a great example of an outstanding citizen," said Fesperman. "She brings many aspects of our community together just by being involved in so many areas and knowing the different needs in each group."

Town of Troutman's Organization of the Year

Troutman Baptist Church was nominated for the Organization of the Year recognition because the church has been "a consistent and faithful partner to the Town of Troutman."

The church always sends many hands to assist in various town events, such as 5Ks, parades, or park events. Church members also frequently donate needed supplies like Easter baskets or water bottles, to drives or special events.

The church's pastors also provide invocations for Town Council meetings or other events when asked.

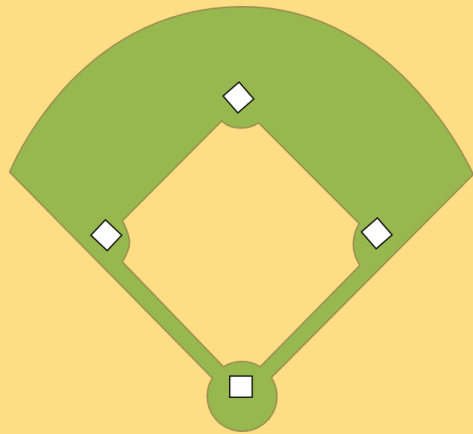

When town staffing availability is low, church volunteers even offer to completely handle an event for the town.

Town staff also enjoys the encouraging messages that members send, expressing their appreciation for their services. "We appreciate this church and all that it does for the community and the citizens of Troutman."

Monthly Police Beat >>>

Message from Troutman Police Chief Tina Fleming:

"This Fourth of July, law enforcement in Troutman are teaming up with NCGHSP to share the message about the dangers of drunk driving during this year's Operation Firecracker Booze It & Lose It campaign. Drivers are encouraged to write the message #KeysFreeNC in window chalk on their vehicles to help encourage fellow North Carolinians to leave the keys behind if they are going to be drinking over the 4th of July holiday. Drivers will see increased law enforcement officers everywhere. This Independence Day, let's all work together across Troutman to spread the lifesaving message that drunk driving is unacceptable, deadly, and illegal behavior.

As you, your friends, and your family head out to the July 4th festivities this summer, keep safety in mind.

Call the police if you notice anything or anyone that appears suspicious.
